Antioch copes with record- breaking heat

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A dip in the pool, a trip to the movies, and even renting videos and staying inside are just a few of the ways residents of Antioch have coped with the latest heat wave to hit the area. Commonwealth Edison is reporting record breaking usage numbers as everyone tries to keep things cool.

On Friday, the Village of Antioch's pool saw 280 visitors splashing about. According to Pool Manager Liz Glenn, the average pool attendance is 200. On Sunday, 250 residents took a dip.

Those not in the pool headed to the lakes. Boat traffic seemed heavy on Saturday and Sunday as residents headed out to the sandbar for a little cooling in the lake.

However, Brian Pederson of Pederson Marina didn't notice much of an increase. "It' s about normal. The flow is steady," he said. "They are cutting their trips short, though. They are just anchoring."

For many, staying inside with the air conditioning is the best way to beat the heat. Spending a nice weekend afternoon indoors watching a video was just the remedy for some.

"The rentals are up a bit more when it is hot," said Nicole Horton of Video Explosion.

Commonwealth Edison can attest to the large number of people inside with their air conditioners running. "We had the highest Sunday capacity request in the history of our system," said Com Ed spokesman Harlan Dam. "We hit that at 4 p.m."

Two weeks ago, Com Ed broke the Sunday record with a usage of 15,720 megawatts of power. "Well, we broke that record at 1 p.m., 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m.," Dam said. "At 4 p.m. we were up to 16,400 megawatts of power. This is unheard of growth in one year."

School seeks decision on apartments

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The rejection of the petition to rezone property owned by Antioch Community Consolidated District 34 was discussed in closed session during the regular school board meeting, but no action was taken. The school board is waiting to see what the Village of Antioch will decide on Monday night, when the issue will be discussed.

The problem started when Antioch Planning and Zoning initially rejected a proposal to change the zoning on a piece of property off Hillside Avenue. The school district's petition asked to have the zoning changed from R-1 to R-5, multifamily.

The somewhat controversial plan to build

Students to get new rules at ACHS

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

In an effort to simplify, revamp and clarify the discipline code at Antioch Community High School, the board has approved a revised student handbook outlining the new rules. Parents and students alike are encouraged to read the handbook so there are no surprises mid-semester.

The first change deals with a student's failure to serve a detention. For the first failure, the student will be required to attend a Saturday school session. The second offense will garner a one day trip to the Isolated Learning Environment (ILE). The third offense will call for a two-day suspension.

Misconduct during unstructured time will bring a warning and conference, detentions, Saturday school or parent contact for the first offense. The second intervention could provide one to two days in the ILE, a one day suspension, and or revoked privileges. The third violation would bring a two to three day suspension and this would include off campus violations.

Possession of cellular phones, pagers, and radios could bring confiscation, a police contact, or a trip to the ILE. Second offense would be a 10 day suspension and possible expulsion.

Failure to attend a scheduled Saturday school brings an automatic three-day suspension.

The school is also cracking down on tobacco use and or possession of tobacco on school property and at all school sanctioned events both at the school or away.

Tobacco use, both smoking or smokeless, would require a trip to the ILE for three days and attendance at an anti-smoking seminar. A second violation would bring a suspension of five days, and a third offense requires a 10 suspension and possible expulsion.

Possession of tobacco products is also actionable. Being caught would bring a Saturday school or attendance at an anti-smoking seminar for the first offense. Second offense would include ILE for three days and the seminar, and a third offense offers a three to five day suspension.

Sewer study goes to committee

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The sewer feasibility study for unincorporated Antioch is scheduled to be discussed at the Lake County Board Public Service Committee next week. The study would investigate the possibility and costs associated with providing sewer service to the Antioch Township area. The study would be paid for, initially, by county sewer service user fees.

"It has taken us nine months to get this far," said Carole Jonites, president of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA). "Finally, things are moving."

UHAUA, a group of concerned residents and subdivision officials, has been pushing to have the study done. Before the committee meeting, UHAUA will be sending out letters to Public Service Committee members to introduce the issue.

"I want to emphasize we are pushing for the study, not sewers," explained Jonites. She believes there can be no sensible discussion of sewer service until the study reveals the costs and even the feasibility of sewers. With many wetlands and homes on peninsulas, it is not known if sewers can be brought into some of the areas.

"That is what the study is for," Jonites added.

Jonites and UHAUA Sewer Committee Chairman Bill Liniewicz met with Lake County Public Works Director Al Galantha to discuss the issue and to present new maps showing support for the study.

"We have almost 2,000 letters in support for the study," said Jonites. "We have received only four nos. Our support has been tremendous."

The new map blocks out the conservation areas, areas which already have sewer service and lots of over one acre. UHAUA plans to present the map to the committee in order to provide a visual view of the areas requesting the study.

Galantha told the UHAUA representatives he has already received some rough estimates of the cost for the study.

The Village of Antioch, Antioch Township, the Waterway Management Agency, the Lake County Health Department, as well as many others sent letters in support of the study. Concerns about the environment seem to be fueling the support.

Too small lots, difficult terrain and soils, and aging septic fields combine to cause septic field failure. Many feel septic failure threatens the cleanliness and water quality of the Chain and wetlands.

Group wants Antioch free of train whistles

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Residents are once again meeting in anger about the train whistle blowing in Antioch. Leading the group is attorney and property owner James Duggan.

"We are definitely opposed to the horn blowing at the grade crossings," said Duggan.

The group met with Village of Antioch officials, Wisconsin Central Railroad officials, and a representative from the Illinois Commerce Commission in January. However, very little was settled during the two-hour long meeting.

The meeting was initiated after residents filed a petition requesting the Antioch Village Board to pass an ordinance prohibiting the blowing of train whistles in the evening. Ed Trebel, vice president of transportation for the railroad, was on hand to provide reasons for not developing an ordinance.

"If you had to go to one these accidents," said Trebel, who became emotional after showing the group two video tapes of train-car accidents, "... stopping whistles is not the answer."

From the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC), Bernie Morris told the group with the exception of two train crossings in Antioch, Wisconsin Central has been excused from blowing the whistles. The crossings at Grimm Road and the unprotected crossing at Lake Shore are mandatory sites.

While the railroad is excused from blowing the whistle at the other sites, Wisconsin Central policy is to toot their horns at all crossings. And, the question the Antioch Village Board faced was whether or not they have the jurisdiction to stop the train whistles.

"We cannot take care of it at the village level," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "We just don't see how legally we have the authority."

Duggan believes there is a way to control the sometimes ear-shattering sounds in the middle of the night. "We were told by the city (village), nothing can be done about this," Duggan explained. "We believe there is a remedy."

When asked if a lawsuit is under consideration, Duggan said, "I can't tell you that." But, he added, "It is a possibility."

Duggan is inviting the public to attend the meeting which will be held on Aug. 29 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Maplethorpe Room (formerly the Moose Lodge). "We want people who are interested," said Duggan. "The subject will be what can be done."

Two fight with cops

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Kevin L. Kotwica, 21, of Antioch and Melissa Little, 19 of St. Paul, Minnesota, were arrested Aug. 10 after a 4 a.m. melee at the Las Vegas restaurant. Kotwica was charged with disorderly conduct, battery, and resisting a peace officer while Little was charged with disorderly conduct.

The problem appears to have started when two Lindenhurst and Lake Villa officers entered the Las Vegas Restaurant for breakfast. According to the report all four officers were in uniform and out of service for mealtime.

As the officers were seated, Kotwica and Little allegedly began making "snorting" noises and using profanity. Furthermore, the officers said Little began spitting into the air with "saliva spraying several tables."

When officers asked the two to stop, Kotwica allegedly yelled a profanity directed at the officers and refused. The Antioch Police Department was then called and Kotwica was asked to wait outside. Kotwica then reportedly shoved one of the officers when that officer attempted to take him outside.

Once outside, the problems continued. According to the report, Kotwica punched one of the officers and knocked his glasses off. After a warning, Kotwica was sprayed with pepper spray at which time the Antioch Police arrived on the scene. Both Little and Kotwica were then arrested.

Little and Kotwica were taken to the Antioch Police Department and booked. Kotwica allegedly told police the reason he yelled was because he "hates" Lindenhurst police. Kotwica denies striking the officer. Both have a court date of Sept. 1 in Waukegan.

Briefs

Village board meeting

The Antioch Village Board will meet on Aug. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall. Residents are encouraged to attend.

Train whistle meeting

The public is invited to attend a meeting which will be held on Aug. 29 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Maplethorpe Room (formerly the Moose Lodge) regarding the train whistles in Antioch. "We want people who are interested," said Attorney James Duggan, meeting organizer. "The subject will be what can be done."

Walk rescheduled

The Lakes Region Historical Society's Historical Walk down Main Street Antioch has been rescheduled for Thursday, Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. The program is free and will take roughly an hour and a half. For more information and to make necessary reservations call 395-1453. Using old photographs and viewing existing buildings, interesting facts about Antioch and Main Street will be revealed.

ACHS varsity attends pom pon camp

The ACHS varsity and junior varsity attended a summer pom camp at NIU hosted by Showstoppers of America. The camp lasts four days and consists of non-stop dancing and performing as both a squad and individuals. Fifteen of the varsity members and five of the junior varsity members received awards for excellence in the performance of a routine.

Nine of the varsity girls made the All-Pro team. They were Kim Fischer, Emily Harting, Melissa Hague, Audra Miles, Alexis Dayhuff, Jessica Gurtowski, Krista Hintz, Kelly Slavik and Kristy Miedema.

Three of the junior varsity girls were chosen—Jackie Semm, Lindsay Dean and Kendra Adams.

Out of the girls who made the All-Pro team, four of the varsity members qualified for the All-Star team which involves performing at Disney World and Epcot Center over Thanksgiving. The girls who received the medals and were chosen are Kim Fischer, Melissa Hague and Kelly Slavik.

The squads also performed as a team and receiving ratings. The varsity squad performed twice, received superior ratings both times and a trophy. The squad was also invited to perform in London over New Year's Eve. The junior varsity performed once and received an excellent rating.

The varsity squad is coached by Joy Edge and the junior varsity squad is coached by Carol Gutke.

COURAGE plans lots of fall activities

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

A community-based anti-gang organization will continue to keep busy as the leaves begin to change color.

Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE) will take part in four events in September and October.

On Sept. 23, COURAGE is planning a rollerblading event at Linden Plaza from 8 to 11:30 p.m. All family members are encouraged to strap on in-line skates and give it a whirl.

On Oct. 17, the group encourages everyone to go to College of Lake County to hear story teller John Lasne read his "Red Ribbon Story" about fallen drug enforcement officer Kiki Camerina.

The general meeting, Oct. 25, topic is "What About Gangs in Your Community."

The organization will have a tour of the haunted houses in the area on Oct. 26. Adult volunteers are needed for this trip.

On Oct. 28, COURAGE will honor Red Ribbon Week by holding a fund raiser at the Linden Plaza. This year, the group will attempt to get a "mile of quarters to raise funds to finance costs and subsidize activities and trips sponsored by the organization.

COURAGE will assist with the Haunted Trail on Oct. 28 at McDonald Woods. Last year over 50 members of the teen group assisted in making the trail and manning the areas.

COURAGE is a comprised of residents from Antioch, Grayslake, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst. The group takes a zero tolerance approach to gangs.

The teen group members are reminded they will meet on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. until school starts. In September the meetings will move to Thursday evenings at the same time period.

College students take advantage of absentee voter program

College-bound students who are registered voters in Lake County can take advantage of the "Temporarily Absent Student Voter Program," announced Willard Helander, Lake County clerk. "As soon as a student has a college address, an absentee application can be completed. That application, on file in the County Clerk's office, will automatically trigger the mailing of an absentee-ballot application before the next election."

Current enrollment in the student absentee program is approximately 1,500 and is expected to increase significantly in the presidential election year. Students insure their right to vote in every election as long as their address is current and on file for the absentee program.

For information about voter registration or the "Temporarily Absent Student Voter Program," call 360-7310.

Sheriff offers back-to-school biking tips

"As school resumes, children will again be riding their bicycle to and from school," Sheriff Clinton O. Grinnell of Lake County predicts.

"All too often, children—like adults—become creatures of habit and overlook simple safety precautions. I would like to ask all school children who ride their bicycles to remember a few safety rules:

• Only one person belongs on your bike. Never let a second person ride with you.

• Allow plenty of room for a safe stop. Never follow bikes or cars too closely.

• Keep both hands on the handle bars for safe steering.

• Always give proper signals. Keep a firm grip on the handle bars with your right hand and use your fleet arm and hand to signal turns and stops. Arm straight out is a left turn; arm bent up at the elbow is a right turn; and arm bent down at the elbow is a stop.

• Avoid riding your bike at night. If you must ride at night, equip your bike with good a headlight and rear reflectors. Wear light colored or reflective clothing so others can see you easily.

• Make sure you obey all traffic signs and signals. Stop completely at stop signs and always look both ways before starting out again."

Grinnell explains that it's easy for children to get into a routine in traveling back and forth to school. However, he stresses that children should remind themselves—and be reminded by their parents—that practicing safety every day can save them from serious injury.

"Remember that a bicyclist is like a motorist," Grinnell concludes. "He must be skilled like an automobile driver in handling his vehicle and should always be cautious when traveling the roads."

Confessed sex offender may get extra charges

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

An alleged Grayslake sex offender is still behind bars as Grayslake police continue an investigation into his contacts with youths from his Round Lake Beach church. Joseph P. Escalera, 51, is being held on one count of aggravated criminal sexual abuse to a minor after confessing to sexually abusing a 10-year-old Round Lake boy over a 10-week period.

Escalera, who served prison time for a 1988 conviction on three counts of criminal sexual abuse in Mount Prospect, was a former Sunday School teacher at the church. Escalera used his 36-year-old roommate, who is developmentally disabled, to attract young boys. Because of the roommate's emotional and mental maturity, he relates well to young children.

Feeling comfortable with the two men, several parents allowed their children into Escalera's Neville Dr. apartment for an occasional sleep over. In conjunction with the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center in Waukegan, Grayslake Detective Doug Hess is conducting interviews with other boys who have been in Escalera's apartment. Hess said the parents in question are being extremely compliant in the investigation.

"We're getting cooperation all over the place," Hess said.

Hess is also awaiting the results of a psychological profile conducted on the roommate, who has not been charged as an accessory. In fact, Hess said the man may very well be a victim as well.

"He feels betrayed. He saw the cycle beginning to repeat itself but thought that Escalera had changed," Hess reported.

Escalera, who has been in Grayslake approximately two years, was a roommate of the same individual in Mount Prospect before being convicted for sexually abusing young boys. Hess said Escalera lured the children into his apartment in a similar manner.

Hess said Escalera's Grayslake neighbors, when questioned, ranged from reactions of disbelief to outright defensiveness. Hess was belligerently accused in several cases of having the wrong suspect. He confirmed this reaction is typical because sex offenders commonly exude highly personable qualities.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Wool gathering

Scott M. Springer, 31 of Spring Grove, was arrested for illegal transportation of alcohol, driving on a revoked license, and uninsured motorist on Aug. 8. Springer was stopped after he drove past a police car, drove onto the shoulder of the road, and then proceeded forward. After being stopped, Springer allegedly told the officer he became nervous passing the police car and pulled over to the side of the road to "gather his thoughts." A beer in a cup was reportedly found on the floor tipped over. Springer was released on bond with a Sept. 13 court date in Grayslake.

Brawling in the parking lot

Joseph R. Weiss, 27, of Antioch; Gregory J. Gipson, 25, of Fox Lake; and Salvatore V. Strazzant, 25, of Antioch were arrested for disorderly conduct on Aug. 12 after a brawl in the municipal parking lot on Toft Street. Police initially became involved when they saw a large group of people loitering in the lot. According to the report, all three had appeared to have some injuries and looked intoxicated. One of the men allegedly admitted to fighting. All were charged with disorderly conduct and released on bond. The three have a court date of Sept. 13 in Waukegan.

He ran away

Dustin J. Delaney, 19, of Evanston, was arrested and charged with consumption of alcohol by a minor on Aug. 11. Police were called to a Main Street location after a report of a suspicious person. Delaney allegedly ran from the officers. According to the report, when police asked him why he ran, he said it was because he was under the influence of alcohol. Delaney was released on bond.

Battery

Jeffrey M. Kempher, 30, of Gurnee was arrested on Aug. 12 for battery after an incident at the Waterfalls Lounge. According to the police report, the victim suffered a chipped tooth in the fight.

DUI violations

Joseph J. Slabosz, 20, of Antioch was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after a traffic accident on Aug. 12. He was released on bond.

Paul M. Zupan, 44, of Antioch was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after a traffic accident on Aug. 13. He was released on bond.

David D. Wilson, 33, of Antioch was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on Aug. 10. Wilson was observed traveling 35 mph in a 20 mph zone. He was released on bond.

Illegal transport of alcohol

Phillip G. Dempsey, 23, of Lake Villa, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and illegal transportation of alcohol after he was stopped on lake street by Antioch Police on Aug. 11. He was released on bond.

LAKE VILLA

Caught drinking & driving

Rosalie Lunetta, P.O. Box 56, Trevor, on Aug, 10, was arrested for driving under the influence, improper lane usage. She was stopped after the officer saw her drive off the roadway on two occasions on Cedar Lake Road. She failed field sobriety tests and refused a breath test.

Caught for driving offenses

Salvador Artega, 47, 276 Forest, Round Lake, on Aug. 9, was arrested for driving without a license and speeding. He was driving 55 mph in a 35 mph zone.

Steven Denny, 30, 39600 Circle, Antioch, on Aug. 6, was arrested for speeding, no registration and driving with a revoked license. He was driving 61 mph in a 45 mph zone.

Causing a disturbance

Margaret Smith, 40, Genoa City, Wis.,, on Aug. 6, was arrested for obstructing a police officer. Smith was arrested after the complainant said she was causing a disturbance in Lehmann Park and refused to leave when the police told her to do so.

LINDENHURST

Fishing without permit

Ronald Munroe, 31, Waukegan, on Aug. 12, was arrested for violating the catch and release requirement for bass and being a non-resident fishing on Lake Waterford. Police saw him with two bass over 12 inches on a stringer. He was not a guest of a resident and was arrested. He reportedly told police he was "lured to the lake by tales of great fishing."

Tis the season for those family reunions, Schreibers host theirs

Well, the Schreiber family had their annual reunion and as always every branch of the family tree was well represented. We here at The Plantation have been hosting these events for 15 years now and each year we seem to get more and more people, and the festivities last longer and longer. It used to be that the relatives showed up on the planned Saturday, brought a dish to pass and a swimsuit, and then went home after the food was gone and the mosquitoes came out. Well, then things got a little more extended and a few relatives ventured over night into Sunday sleeping in tents staked out in our yard. Then one year they started arriving Friday evening with pop-up campers to nestle down for the weekend.

This year not only did they arrive Thursday afternoon, but they even managed to get full-sized RVs down our narrow, tree-lined, gravel driveway. Talk went around the campfire Saturday night of perhaps next year gracing us with their presence on Wednesday afternoon. Did I mention that some fellow relatives even stay on until Monday or Tuesday after the original event? We have decided to look into qualifying for KOA status!

My brother-in-law tried to intimidate all the camper relatives by telling them he observed a local park ranger posting "Unauthorized Campground" signs at the end of our property; it didn't deter a single soul. You have to remember, though, that these people come from the south side of Chicago where standing their turf is a daily reality.

We had four great days of fun, food and fellowship. Nobody was deterred by rain, lightning or the Bears' first pre-season football game. The young ones swam, hiked the bluffs, fished and did kid stuff, while the older generation cooked, cleaned up, cooked, cleaned up, cooked, then cleaned up. The in-the-middle Baby Boomers tended to infants, babies and toddlers who were rather disoriented by all the commotion and disrupted schedules, but who actually managed to endure sleep deprivation and a diet of Coke and nachos quite well.

We love hosting this annual event as the Antioch branch of our family tree is the only non-camping branch on the whole tree. So it works out to everyone's advantage—the camping relatives get a long weekend of free camping in a fine establishment, and we Antiochians are spared the experience of sleeping in a bug-infested canvas dome during a rainstorm with our non-nature loving children.

Our eager 6 year old couldn't stand the anticipation of the guests' arrival and even made a countdown calendar several weeks ago, marking the progress of the upcoming event. On the other hand, our unsociable 3 year old turned to me as the RVs began rolling in Thursday and said, "Mommy, when are all these people going home?" By Friday morning I was asking myself the same question!

Library news No. 1

The Antioch Library Friends will hold their monthly meeting on Thursday, Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room at the Antioch Library. The agenda for the meeting will include a stenciling demonstration called "How to Get Started in Stenciling and Other Decorative Arts." The Friends group also has meetings scheduled for Sept. 28 and Oct. 26, with a quilting demonstration scheduled for the October meeting.

If you are interested in becoming an Antioch Library Friends member, this is your opportunity to get up and help correct some of the things that may bother you while visiting our library, such as misplaced books or books out of sequence. Whether you are able to give 30 minutes a week or five hours a month, your efforts are appreciated.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN PRINGLE

395-6364

Now just so you know, not all members are required or expected to volunteer their time actually working in the library or attending the monthly meetings. Your membership simply entitles you the opportunity to support a very worthwhile organization. For any additional information give Gail a call at 395-6588.

Library news No. 2

The Antioch Library Friends are also preparing for their Annual Book Sale which will be held at the library on Oct. 6 and 7. So start saving your books! We ask that you wait until the week of the sale to deliver your books to the library as we have limited room to store them.

Just a note: We do not accept Readers Digest condensed books, out of date text books, or National Geographic's, sad to say, but we are unable to sell them. If you have any questions about the sale, please call Gail at 395-6588 or Marcia at 395-7006. So come on out to the Annual Book Sale and be a part in helping the Antioch Library grow to meet the demands of our fine community.

St. Peter's CCD

With the 1995-96 school year beginning (hip, hip, hooray), the Religious Education Classes (CCD) at St. Peter's Church will also be gearing up for another season. Anyone who has already attended the program will be getting a registration packet in the mail. You are asked to fill out the registration forms and either return them to the Religious Education Center (formerly the convent) or stop down in the church basement before or after any of the masses on Aug. 19 and 20, or Aug. 26 and 27. If there are any families new in the area, welcome to our parish, and you too may register your children at this time. If you have any questions or need any of the registration forms, please call Mary Leonard at 395-0246.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Toys for Tots kicks off campaign

Santa Claus needs a little help, and so does the Chicagoland Toys for Tots program.

Each year since 1947, the Marine Corps Reserve has sponsored toy drives, providing toys to millions of needy children at Christmas time. Last year alone, more than 80,000 toys were collected in Chicago, sorted for boys and girls by age, and distributed to thousands of area children.

Santa was very thankful for the assistance.

This year's program has already begun, and there is a need for volunteers to help in a variety of meaningful and productive ways. Pay includes increased self-esteem, a sense of belonging, and the satisfaction of helping others.

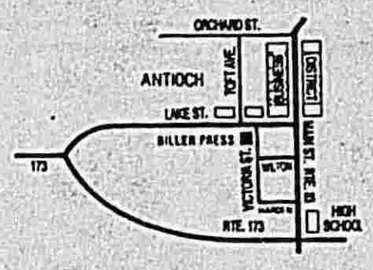

For more information, call Marine Gunnery Sergeant Mike Ruffner at (312) 539-6464.

Jaycees award members, prepare for bike-a-thon

Antioch Jaycees officers reported its "Kid Care Identification" program at the Super Kmart in Round Lake Beach was a surprise success, despite little exposure of the service.

Donna Bergl, Jaycees secretary, said Jaycees volunteers photographed between 40 and 50 kids during a four-hour span. The photographs were given to parents as part of a personal identification card.

The ID cards provide an updated picture and vital information about the child. In case a child is ever abducted or kidnapped, police could use the ID card as a way to identify the child.

In other Jaycees matters, Jaycees President Brian Stoddard honored a number of Jaycees members with recognition awards. Honored were:

- Robert Sykes of Lindenhurst, "Outstanding Recruiter" for first quarter;
- John Sykes of Grayslake, "Jaycee of the Month" for July;
- Teri Chipman of Genoa City, Wis., "Jaycee of the Month" for May and June;
- Donna Bergl of Antioch, "Outstanding Officer" for first quarter.

In addition, the Jaycess in conjunction with Antioch Schwinn are preparing for the third annual "Ride for Bill Brook." Proceeds from the Sept. 23 bike-a-thon will benefit cancer research.

The Antioch Jaycees is a community service organization led by young men and women age 21 to 39. For more information or to become a member, call Stoddard ar 395-8035.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Symphony comes to Lake Villa prairie

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

It may not be Ravinia, but Lake Villa will sound similar to it this weekend.

Be prepared for plenty of soothing music and family fun as Lake Villa District Library Board presents its second annual "Symphony on the Prairie."

The event has two days of exciting music just west of the library on Grand Avenue in Lake Villa. The music and fun begins on Aug. 19 at 1 p.m. with La Bamba featuring Latin American music geared for children and families.

"They teach the kids about the songs and get the kids to play the instruments. It is great for families and their kids," said Donna Stuckert, public relations director.

Last year, an estimated 600 people attended the event. This year the library is hoping for even more.

"Last year about 600 people attended and this year it will be bigger and better. We have a wonderful weekend of music planned and we are really looking forward to it," Stuckert said.

In addition to La Bamba, Lakes Area Community Band will take the stage at 4:30 p.m. The band will play a mix of contemporary songs with the classical music.

On Aug. 20, the Waukegan Symphony will perform at 4:30 p.m. Both the band and the library are happy to be back for a second performance.

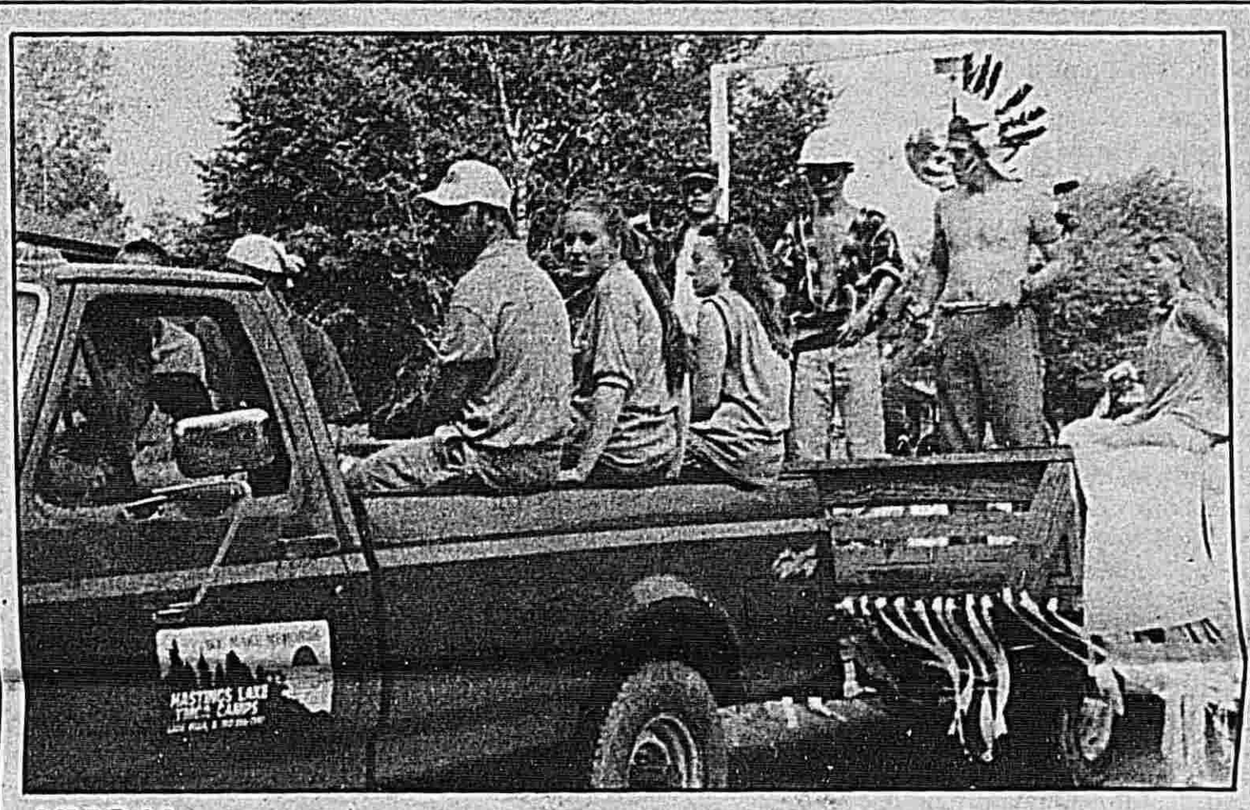

Last year's performance was such as hit, many in attendance requested the symphony back for another year.

The library encourages people to enjoy two days of fine music in the beautiful countryside. People are encouraged to bring their picnics, blankets and lawn chairs.

Parking will be located to the east of the library. Only handicapped vehicles will be allowed to park in the library lot at Deep Lake Road. The entertainment is free.

The event is sponsored by the Friends of the Lake Villa District Library, Raymond Chevrolet, First of America Bank, Strang Funeral Home, Park Place Business Center, Jack's Vacs and State Bank of the Lakes.

For more information call the library at 356-7711.

Library gears up for fall

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Public Library is gearing for the children's fall reading programs. Registration of the programs begins Sept. 1 and will be on a first come-first served basis.

"There is a limit to how many children we can have," said Children's Librarian Joan Padbury. Coming off the hugely successful summer reading program, Padbury has mixed feelings.

"I'd like to have that response," said Padbury, "but at the same time we are disappointing people who cannot attend."

The preschool program is for children age 3 and 4 years old and can accommodate 12 youngsters per class. There is a separate program for kindergartners. The school age program for students from first to fourth grades can accommodate 30 children.

The programs begin the week of Sept. 18 and continue until Dec. 9. Besides story times, activity hours, and movies, like the summer program, parties will also be held.

"There will be weekly parties," said Padbury. "The dates will be announced."

All the reading programs are free, but registration must be made in person. Call 395-0874 for more information.

Women of the Moose meet again

Pat Serwa and Donna Lessard were in charge of the food stand at the Women of the Moose family picnic, and they and their co-workers had a successful day of providing hot dogs, brats, corn, etc. to the hungry Moose families who attended.

Youth Involvement Committee Chairman Donna Sternberg and her co-workers Bea Phillips, Lisa Gutamiedel, Kim Chase and Shirley Gehrls served sandwiches and salads at the Aug. 3 meeting, and will also provide refreshments for the next meeting Aug. 17.

Shirley McIntyre and Elaine Ciborowski were presented their "soft hearts," having attended three meetings. This felt patch will be worn to future meetings and pins and charms for other Women of the Moose accomplishments will be affixed to their "soft hearts" as they are received.

Mavis Dingsdale, Ritual chairman, has requested that every one of the women be at the Moose Lodge on Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. for Ritual practice and pizza afterwards.

On Oct. 7 a Night at the Races will be held at the Moose Lodge for members and their guests. Tickets can be purchased from a publicity committee co-worker and some will be available at the lodge. Minimum age to attend this fundraiser is 18.

Calvary ready for another year

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Calvary Christian School is under new leadership but will be charting a familiar and expanded course this year.

Replacing Rodney Davis as principal is Lynne Gomoll. Gomoll has been an instructor at Calvary for four years. She promises expanded course offerings for students this year.

New this year is German to go along with French for high school students. Also, the life skills class which teaches seniors meaningful skills they need to survive in the world such as how to change a spark plug or sew a button.

One thing that makes Calvary unique is it limits the class size at 25 which offers more student-teacher interaction.

"The smaller classes offer a more family-type atmosphere," Gomoll said. "I knew all my students by name. I could see the parents and could communicate to them the positives of their child or the negatives."

The school offers biblical-based curriculum in a non-denominational format.

"The subjects are taught from the Christian perspective. We also try to instill loyalty and respect in kids," Gomoll said.

There are still many activities for students to join such as band, volleyball, basketball, soccer. Drama and music will also be expanded.

The school has a preschool which starts at age 3 and continues all the way to grade 12. Calvary still has some openings available. For information call the school at 356-6198.

Physical Best

Brian Forth, Jason Bolton, Mary Ipsen, and Dana Pierson present a plaque to new principal, Dr. Susan Mullendore, for all students who donated their time and efforts this past spring in the Lift-A-Thon. The Lift-A-Thon raised more than $3,000 to improve the weight deck at the high school. Debbie Rummel, Del Pechauer, Mark Ring and Jeff Moxley were the faculty coordinators in this fund raising event.

Naval Air Station plans closure ceremony

Naval Air Station (NAS) Glenview will end 58 years of service to the nation's defense this fall when the base officially closes Sept. 9 at 1 p.m. at Hangar 1.

All those who served at the air station are welcome to attend this event. However, due to space limitations, seating is limited to invited guests.

The air station, which is being closed under the Base Realignment and Closure Act (BRAC), has a long and distinguished history. During World War II, over 9,000 aviation cadets received their primary flight training at NAS Glenview. More than 15,000 Navy and Marine Corps pilots, including Former President George Bush, received their carrier qualifications by landing on one of two converted passenger steamers on Lake Michigan.

In the years since, the naval air station has been in the business of training reservists. In addition to providing support to their active duty counterparts, Glenivew reservists have been called to active duty or have assisted in operations supporting the Korean War, the Berlin Crisis, the Cuban Missile Crisis, the return of POWs from Vietnam, and Operation Desert Storm.

Concordia offers graduate course

Concordia University, River Forest, will offer two graduate courses at Warren Twp. High School, 500 North O'Plaine Rd., in Gurnee, beginning Sept. 5.

"School Organization and Administration" will be offered in 10 sessions on Tuesdays from 6 p.m. to 9:20 p.m. This course may be applied toward a master's degree in supervision of instruction and school administration.

"Crisis Intervention" will meet Wednesday evenings from 6 p.m. to 9:20 p.m. This course may be applied toward a master's degree in curriculum and instruction, school counseling, psychology and human services. Classes meet once a week for 10 sessions.

Concordia University is a four-year, Christian liberal arts institution offering degree programs to more than 2,200 undergraduate and graduate students. Through hits School of Graduate Studies, Concordia offers master of arts degrees in education (eight areas of specialization), gerontology, human services, psychology, religion and church music.

Concordia University is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. The University is a member of the Council of Graduate Schools.

From the Capital

US Cong. Phillip M. Crane (R)

Tax reduction law must pass

I will fight to block any efforts to delay the effective date of the capital gains tax cut. The House-approved capital gains tax—now before the Senate—would cut capital gains taxes and index gains for inflation, effective retroactively to the beginning of this year. There is good reason to be optimistic that this tax reduction legislation will be signed into law by the President before the year is out. We must, however, maintain the retroactive date. Efforts can be expected to be made to postpone the effective date to when the bill passes Congress. There are those who want to push the date back until 1996. But investors might delay trades if there is concern over a future effective date and this could disrupt the market.

I expect a House-Senate conference committee to be the scene of the next battle in our struggle to eliminate the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). I hope to win that fight, too.

Last month, the House approved legislation we strongly supported which calls for putting an end to funding of the NEA effective Sept. 30, 1997. It marked the success of a drive which we first began back in 1990 when we introduced an amendment to put the NEA out of business. We only gathered the support of 63 colleagues in 1990, but a majority of House members joined us this time around.

As we march down the road to putting an end to the NEA, we are able to report that the vote last month also chopped $72 million from the $171 million the Clinton Administration sought for the agency. The NEA has spent $2.5 billion in the past 15 years—taxpayer dollars that should never have been spent. The Founding Fathers in 1787 at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia voted against using tax dollars for the arts.

Incidentally, a new voice has been heard from in the battle against NEA funding—Washington Post columnist James K. Glassman. He writes that "government money makes bad art." "What the NEA has promoted," he states, "is not art but a culture of grantsmanship, which, only naturally, produces banal, politically palatable works. The NEA system encourages artists to gear their efforts to win the approval of professionals and bureaucrats, sitting on boards perfectly diverse, who in turn have presidential appointees and legislators looking over their shoulders." The NEA, "as its adherents never tire of saying," he went on, "provides an imprimatur that attracts more funding. It's an enormously powerful force that's responsible for much of the mediocrity that pervades art today."

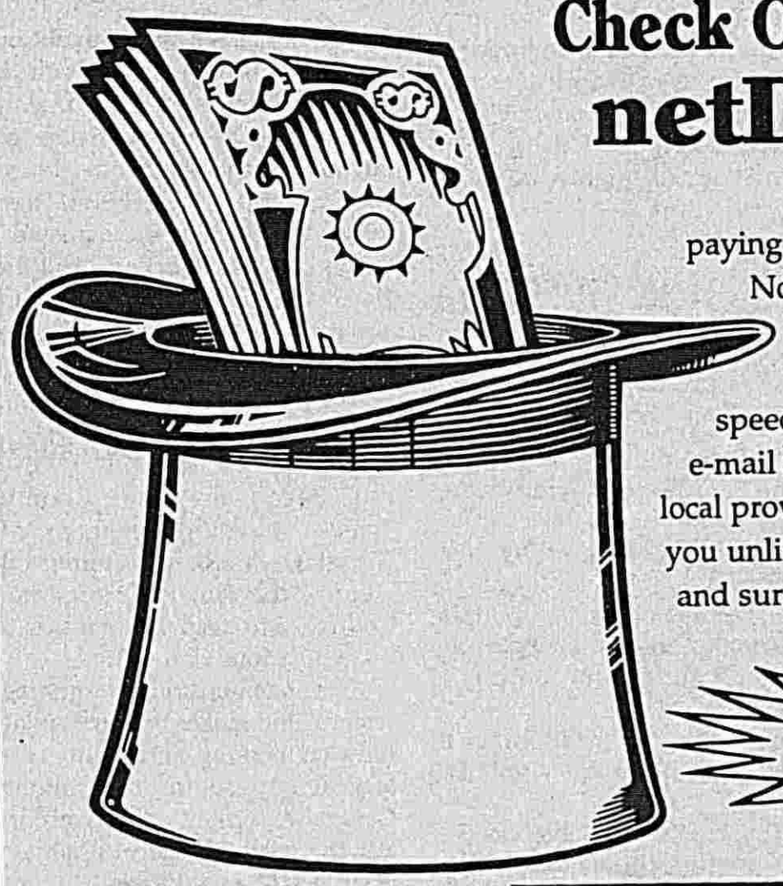

Illinois companies have made inquiries to our office on a number of trade issues. If your company has inquiries regarding trade opportunities, we suggest you contact the state-sponsored NAFTA Opportunity Trade Center and the International Trade Center at NORBIC-North Business and Industrial Council. An extension of the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs, the trade center offers a variety of free-of-charge services to companies that are either first-time or experienced exporters. Help is provided to companies to take advantage of export opportunities in Canada and Mexico, and queries are routinely handled regarding shipping documentation that entitles companies to tariff breaks, as well as product labeling, safety standards, and other day-to-day export issues. # Ben Franklin closing blow to Lindenhurst

Staff Reporter

A Lindenhurst landmark and one of its largest retailers is soon to become history.

Ben Franklin will end a long stint in the village when it closes its doors. The business had been one of the biggest draws in the Linden Plaza Shopping Center.

"It was Goliath killing David," said store owner Marvin Steinberg. "We just couldn't compete with the superstores."

Steinberg indicated his store was losing money and just couldn't compete with stores such as Wal-mart and Kmart.

"We saw the handwriting on the wall. There was just no way we could compete," Steinberg said.

Steinberg thanked his many customers throughout the years for their patronage.

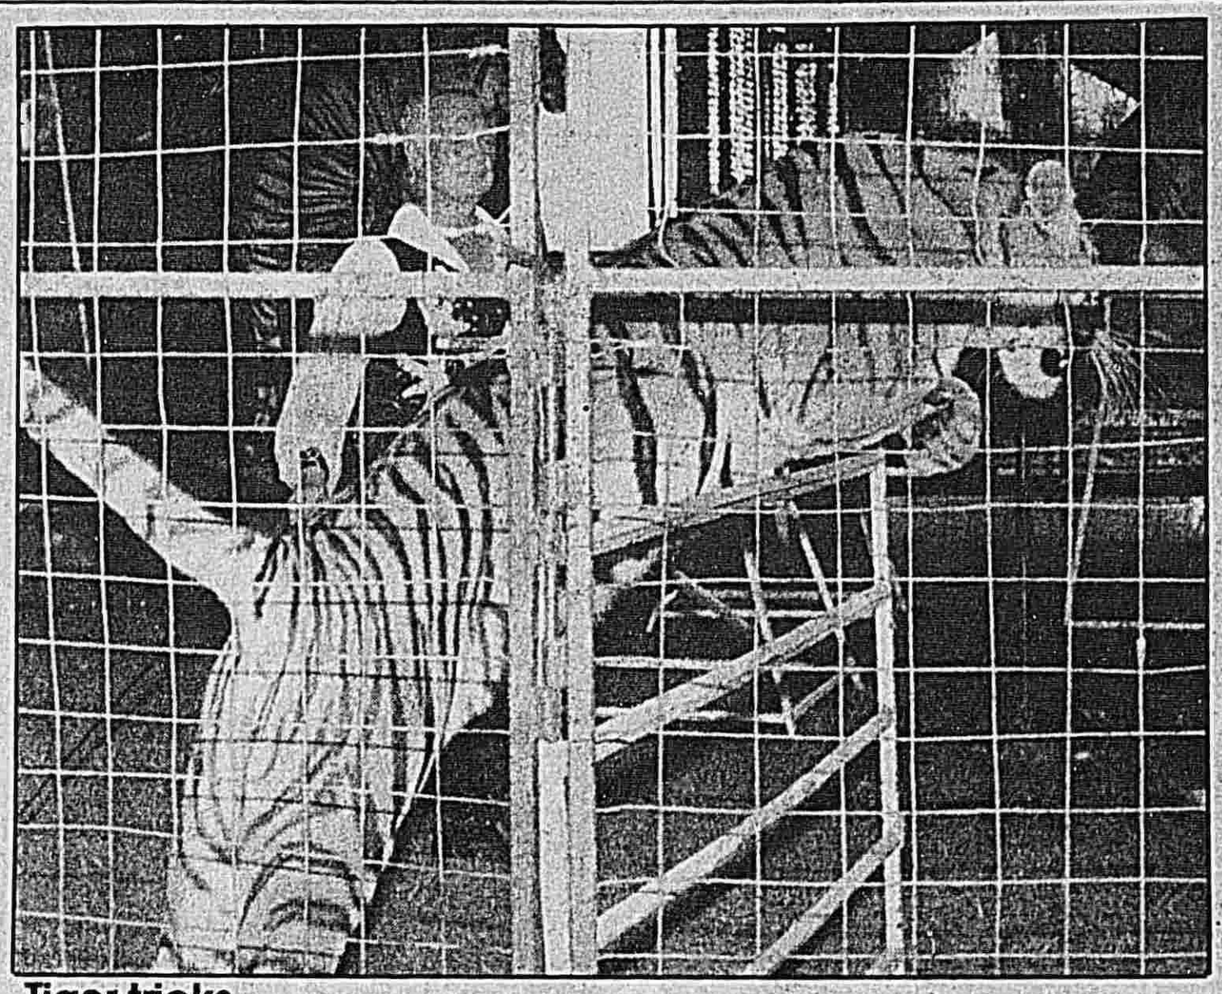

"I was very disturbed when I heard about it," said Mayor Paul Baumunk. "It was a surprise to the employees as well as the residents. Ben Franklin offered a unique service to the community and will be missed for a long time."

The only other Ben Franklin remaining in the area is the Antioch store.

The store had been at this location for 24 years and was one of the village's largest retailers and employers.

Baumunk said he would like to see something which assists seniors with their health care needs. He said it could also be subdivided into smaller stores if necessary. He has fielded some inquiries from interested businesses regarding the site.

Shoppers are taking advantage of last minute close-outs with discounts ranging from 20 to 50 percent.

School

a 43-unit apartment building on Hillside, the access road to W.C. Petty and Antioch Upper Grade schools, has been considered by the zoning board twice. The zoning board denied District 34's request for rezoning after a public hearing on June 8 and on July 27, the zoning board once again rejected the petition citing access and traffic problems.

Neighbors spoke of traffic problems, flooding and drainage concerns, and even noise problems as a reason to deny District 34's petition. Hillside, which is off Tiffany Road, dead-ends at W.C. Petty School. Multifamily dwellings abound in the area. However, the zoning board agreed with residents and now it is back in the village board's court.

According to District 34 Superintendent Dan Burke the school district advertised the property with several Realtors. Only one offer was proffered, and that offer included a stipulation to rezone the property from single residence to multi-family.

"It was not our original intention to rezone the property," said Burke in an earlier interview. "As it turned out, the single offer we did get included a stipulation for rezoning. If we had some R-1 buyers there would be no problem."

District 34 maintains the rezoning is consistent with the villages comprehensive plan, the surrounding zoning, and was approved, with stipulations, by the Village Planner Bob Silhan. Burke feels even the legal memoranda written by Village Attorney Ken Clark is consistent with the school board's position.

The question now remains exactly what will the village trustee's do. On one hand, the zoning board has made known its strong feelings about the plan. However, the village may not have a legal leg to stand on if the petition is denied.

Trustees will have to look long and hard at the petition. If the board upholds planning and zonings determination, the village may be looking at a lawsuit from District 34. In essence that would leave two taxing bodies suing each other at taxpayers expense. On the other hand, if the petition is approved by the board, the village will have to face some angry and vocal residents.

Burke said the school board is looking for a favorable determination by the village board. "The (school) board still feels hopeful the trustees will approve the petition," said Burke.

Daniel Wright Rock moves to new home

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

A piece of Lake County history moved to a new home.

The famed "Daniel Wright Rock" was moved from its longstanding location on Milwaukee Avenue and Aptakisic Road in Lincolnshire to the Ryerson Woods in Deerfield.

According Virginia Park, a longtime Vernon Township resident and local historian, Wright was the first white European to settle in Lake County in 1838. He built a cabin between the Des Plaines River and present day Milwaukee Ave.

She said the Lake County Historical Society dedicated the large boulder in Wright's name in 1909.

"Vernon Township is the oldest place in the county, and it's history is very dear to us," Park said. She also said Wright was "revered" by local Indians. He is buried in Vernon Township Cemetery

Park said the rock's proximity to the Milwaukee road raised concerns, which eventually prompted the move.

"It was too close to the highway," Park said. "The highway department was concerned about."

Staff at Ryerson Woods welcomed the new addition to their Forest Preserve.

"We're really happy to have it because it is important to Lake County history," said Nan Buckardt, environmental education manager for the Lake County Forest Preserve at Ryerson Woods. "It's fun to have another piece of Lake County history in Ryerson Woods."

She said its new location will be in front of the Program Cabin at Ryerson Woods. "We chose that spot because of its high visibility, so visitors can come learn some of our cultural history," Buckardt said.

Ryerson Woods, she said, also is part of Wright's original settlement. She said its new location will allow visitors and history buffs a better opportunity to appreciate the rock's significance.

"Actually, its more of a benefit to have it here because people will be able to take notice of the rock as they walk by it," Buckardt said. "On Milwaukee Avenue, people just zoomed by it in their cars and never really noticed it."

'Ecotour '95' series includes tours of bog, park

The Illinois Environmental Council (IEC) is sponsoring a tour of Volo Bog State Natural Area in Lake County and Glacial Park in McHenry County on Sunday, Aug. 20 from 10:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. The guided tour, which is limited to 25 registrants, will include two State Nature Preserves and the route of a proposed tollroad threatening these pristine treasures. To register and receive directions, call the McHenry County Defenders at (815)338-0393 or IEC at (217)544-5954. The fee is $10 and guests should bring a sack lunch.

Volo Bog near Ingleside is a rare glacial bog that harbors abundant wildlife and more than 25 species of threatened and endangered plants. Glacial Park is the largest parcel in the McHenry County Conservation Dist. system and contains impressive glacial ridges and mounds. Both preserves are threatened, however, by a proposed tollroad that would cut through the Nippersink Valley. IEC maintains these areas cannot withstand the development and vehicle traffic that the tollroad would create. Tour participants will learn about the beauty of the preserves and how they can help to protect them.

Geo-Karis bills aid adopted persons and clarifies role of county boards

Legislation aiding adopted persons and a bill changing the votes needed by a county board regarding zoning ordinances, both sponsored in the Senate by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion), were signed into law by Gov. Jim Edgar.

House Bill 119, sponsored in the House of Representatives by Rep. Bill Black (R-Danville), abolishes the need for adopted individuals to receive a court order to change their name. Under current law, people who have been adopted need a court order to change their name. Those who have not been adopted simply fill out a form and pay a small fee.

"There is no logical reason for someone who is adopted to have a harder time changing their name than someone who is not adopted," said Geo-Karis.

House Bill 934, sponsored in the House by Rep. Kevin Hanrahan (R-Northbrook), allows map amendments to zoning ordinances which are proposed to correct errors to be passed by a simple majority of the county board. Currently, such changes require a three-fourths majority. The bill also amends the definition of a "public record" to include electronic material.

"This legislation will increase the effectiveness of county boards across the state," said Geo-Karis.

"Also, with the wide-spread use of computers in the public realm, we needed to specify in legislation that electronic records are also public," she added. "Computers can greatly cut down on the amount of paper used in filing public records, but that should not make those records any more difficult for the public to obtain."

CLC trustee appointed chair of state committee

College of Lake County Trustee Richard Anderson of Grayslake has been appointed chair of the Illinois Community College Trustees Association's State Relations Committee.

The State Relations Committee reviews and makes recommendations concerning community college issues before the Illinois General Assembly, the Governor, and the courts. Usually the largest of all ICCTA committees, it relies heavily on the expert opinions of local trustees and special subcommittees. The committee is also responsible for developing an annual legislative agenda for the statewide association.

A trustee since 1974, Anderson is a former chair of the CLC board and currently heads its Finance Committee. At the state level, he has served as vice chair of the State Relations Committee, as chair of the Student Trustee Task Force, and as ICCTA secretary.

As attorney, Anderson is an associate with the Libertyville law firm of Basford and Mueth. He also serves as a trustee of the Village of Grayslake, where he lives with his wife, Helene, and their daughters Kristy, Tracy and Michelle.

Fall registration near for Parents Day Out

The Parents Day Out (PDO) program of the United Methodist Church of Antioch will soon begin registration for the fall session. However, it is not too late to participated in the summer session.

The summer schedule continues until Aug. 24. The program operates on Tuesday's and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

PDO is a program offering any parent needing some time out from youngsters ages 6 months to 5 years. Children have a safe and fun environment to socialize with other same age children, while parents can run errands, make appointments, or even just relax at home.

The fall session will offer the program on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Pre registration is encouraged, but not necessary. The cost is $10 per session day per child. Each child is limited a 10 hour maximum, or two sessions per week.

For more information call 395-1362 Tuesdays or Thursdays from 9 to 10 a.m.

Former Olympian to teach at new gymnastics studio

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Not only will gymnastics now be offered in Antioch, but it will be coordinated by a former Olympic gymnast.

American Stars of Dance and Tumbling will be opening a new wing dedicated solely to gymnastics training. A grand opening and open house will be held Aug. 26 from 1 to 3 p.m.

"This is the first time, I believe, there is going to be gymnastics instruction with gymnastics equipment offered in the Antioch area," said Claudia Garrett, who took ownership of the studio earlier this year.

She said she will be renting a building adjacent to the studio for gymnastics training. American Stars of Dance and Tumbling is located at 237 Depot Street in Antioch.

Before opening up the gymnastics wing, interested students had to travel to Grayslake, Mundelein or other towns for gymnastics instruction.

"We were turning down students all the time because they wanted gymnastics instruction," Garrett said. "Now, they have it."

She said the studio draws students from northern Illinois including McHenry County and southern Wisconsin.

The new gymnastics equipment to be offered includes parallel bars, uneven bars, vaults and horses. Rings may be added in the future.

"We'll have everything except a trampling," Garrett said.

She said former Olympic gymnast Debbie Bessette will be directing the gymnastics instruction. Bessette competed on the Dutch national team from 1978 to 1982. She now resides in Trevor, Wis.

"Debbie has quite a few qualifications and quite a following," Garrett said. "She's excited about using the equipment."

Before coming to Antioch, Bessette has taught gymnastics at Indiana University and other studios in Indiana, Illinois and Lake County.

Unlike other gymnastics studios, Garrett said Bessette will be bringing Olympic experience and 11 years of instruction to American Stars of Dance and Tumbling.

"It won't be taught by a 17-year-old kid out of high school," Garrett said. "This is her (Bessette's) dream to want to teach gymnastics."

In addition, the 3-year-old studio will continue to offer dance, tumbling and baton lessons. Special camps are also offered, such as wrestling camps.

"We have classes geared specifically for boys," Garrett noted.

Bessette will be on hand Aug. 26 during the open house for autographs.

McKoski helps IU Pom Squad

A former Antioch High cheerleader continues to make high marks as Sarah McKoski helped Indiana University's Pom Squad earn several awards during summer camp.

McKoski, of Lindenhurst, is a sophomore at IU. She helped Antioch High cheerleaders gain a No. 6 national ranking two years ago.

Katie Metcalf, of Gurnee, is also a member of the Indiana University squad.

At Indiana University, the 15-member cheer and dance group received a first place trophy for fight song, a superior trophy and a third place trophy for home pom routine at the Universal Cheerleaders Association College Spirit Camp at Texas State University.

"The summer accomplishments are the culmination of much hard work and dedication," said IU Coach Julie Horine.

The Indiana Pom Squad has set its sights on making the Universal Dance Association National Dance Championships in January at Disney World.

The poms will make their first appearance this year at the 1995 football season opener Sept. 9, when Indiana hosts Western Michigan.

Swanson reports to St. Francis

Steve Swanson, a Grayslake High graduate, is on the roster at St. Francis College of Joliet.

Swanson, a defensive tackle, was the leading tackler for the Rams last year with 80 tackles.

"Steve could help us on special teams as a long snapper right away. We feel that he is an outstanding prospect that hopefully will step in and contribute," St. Francis Coach Mike Slocvick said. "We will be watching his progress.

A three-year varsity letterwinner, Swanson (6-2, 235) was an all-Northwest Suburban Conference choice.

He plans on majoring in business management. He is one of 15 new recruits.

Antioch Vikings football celebrates 25th year

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Twenty-five years ago, Al Roth was a fourth-grader sporting shoulder pads and a helmet in the newly created Antioch Vikings Junior Football program.

Al Roth

A quarter of a century later, Roth is still with the Vikings but is league president of the county's most respected junior football program.

The Antioch Vikings organization is quietly celebrating its silver anniversary this year, 1975 to 1995.

"They (past presidents and coaches) built a ground base to stand on, and I'm not about to let it fall," Roth said. "I want it to get better."

Roth returned to the Vikings nine years ago as coach at various levels, and he has seen it grow and succeed. In the last five years, for example, the heavy weight division has won four championships, and the light weights have been crowned champs the last two years. The light weights also carry a 21-game winning streak into this season.

He credits dedicated coaches for recent successes.

"There is a lot of dedication by coaches who put a lot of time into the Vikings program," Roth said. "We're trying to get more fathers involved who have coaching or football experience."

This year, a new football league, the Lake Villa Township Timberwolves, will be kicking off their inaugural season. Despite the formation of the new league in nearby Lake Villa, Roth has no fears of it bringing down the Vikings program.

He pointed to one telling statistic to prove his point: Registration is at its highest this year, with 275 kids compared to last year's 172 kids.

"We welcome everybody to play," Roth stressed. "I'll go out and buy a uniform myself before I'll tell a kid he can't play."

In addition, the Vikings initiated a new flag football program for 5- to 8-year-olds. Roth said the flag football program serves two purposes: 1.) It serves as a confidence builder for parents. 2.) It offers young players the chance to begin learning the fundamentals of football before putting on pads.

"One of my strategies was to get the parents watching these little guys play," Roth said. "These little guys are great and have more discipline than the older kids."

The Vikings will also be introducing a new scholarship program this year. Two $1,000 scholarships will go to former Vikings athletes who played high school football or participated in the Vikings cheerleading program and will be going onto college. Roth said the scholarships follow the simple concept: "Once a Viking, always a Viking."

Fund-raising efforts have been key to the program's sound financial situation. Besides funding the scholarship program, pancake breakfasts and raffles have helped purchase a five-man blocking sled, tackling dummies and other equipment which the Antioch High School football program utilizes. Sixty-five new helmets, shoulder pads and new uniforms for the flag football league were also added to the arsenal this year

In the future, Roth said he hopes to raise enough money to build a shed with meeting rooms and space to store equipment. He hopes the shed could be built on the high school grounds, It would be donated to the high school as well.

"The fund-raisers have given us the opportunity to buy what we want and need," Roth said.

Parental support through the years has also been an ingredient leading to the Vikings' success story.

"Parents are very important. When I say family-oriented, I'm not kidding. I want people to have confidence in our program," Roth emphasized. "The whole family can come out to enjoy the Sunday games. We have the best crowds at home—and at away games."

The Sunday games are the culmination of the week's practice, which is the heart of the Vikings program. Practice and fundamentals are taken very seriously, Roth said. An hour of practice is dedicated to stretching and fundamentals, while the final hour is geared toward running plays.

"We stress the fundamentals from the first practice of the season to the last practice of the season," Roth said.

Twenty-five years of dedication, parental support, internal growth and the basics of football seem to be the secrets behind the success of Antioch Vikings football.

"Every year we get better, and we're going to keep getting better," Roth promised. "I believe what we teach these kids is second to none."

Based on pizza count, cheerleading camp rates a success

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Future Antioch High cheerleading programs should not suffer from a shortage of prospective cheerleaders.

If the summer cheerleading camp is any indication of what is to come, Antioch will be welcoming many young girls with plenty of talent for many years to come. More than 95 junior high girls age 6 to 14 attended this year's camp. Last year, only six girls managed to make the camp.

"We had a lot more than we were expecting," said Joele Wegener, co-captain of the varsity squad. "We ordered pizza for 75 kids, and we had to order a lot more pizza."

The successful camp also allowed the varsity squad to raise a few bucks to fund future trips to competitions and tournaments. Two years ago, Antioch ranked sixth nationally after qualifying for the national competition held in Nashville, Tenn.

Antioch varsity cheerleaders believe the campers have a lot of promise to do likewise in the near future as Sequoit cheerleaders.

"The older group looked good. They're jumps were very high, and they have a lot of motivation, especially the ones from Millburn," remarked varsity co-captain Mary Aschbacher.

During camp, cheerleaders were divided into three groups, and each group rotated between dance, tumbling and cheers exercises.

"I think the camp gave them a chance to get coordinated, learn some basic skills and learn some new cheers," Aschbacher said.

She said instructing safety was a priority.

"Safety is really important because the stunts keep getting harder and harder," Aschbacher noted.

Both Wegener and Aschbacher said the camp also proved beneficial for the varsity cheerleaders as they had the opportunity to practice their cheers and gain organizational skills.

"It gave all of us some leadership skills and a chance to review our techniques," Aschbacher said.

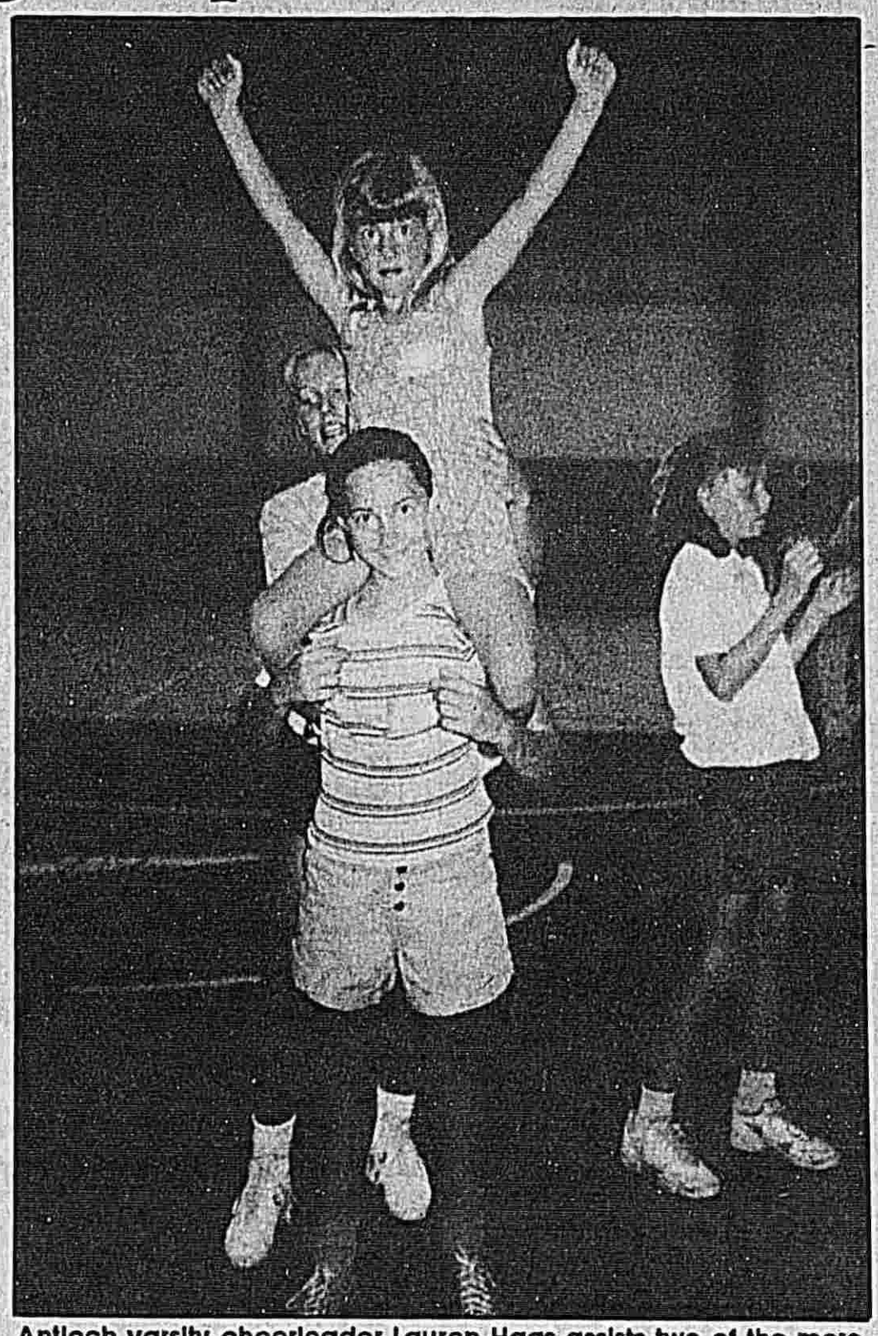

Wegener added, "It helped us to perfect our skills and it gave some new ideas for this year."

Both said the success of the summer camp has them thinking about organizing another mini-camp for junior high girls during Christmas break later this year. They said they are thinking about working with the individual squads at each of the feeder junior high schools.

"Practice makes perfect," Wegener said. "Cheerleading is a strenuous sport. You have to be fit to be a cheerleader."

Antioch cheerleaders have been practicing during the summer break on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The varsity squad, in fact, just returned from a summer camp at the University of Wisconsin at Whitewater where they were preparing to qualify for the national competition later this winter. The squad also hopes to participate in a competition at Great America in September.

"We accomplished a lot so far this year," Wegener said. "I think our squad is more solid than last year, and we're looking forward to the new year."

Antioch varsity cheerleader Lauren Haas assists two of the more than 90 junior high girls who attended a mini-camp. Antioch cheerleaders coordinated and led a summer camp for future high school cheerleaders.

Antioch's Sexton gains 4th win at Wilmot

Dan Boorse of Whitefish Bay scored his seventh midget main win in a co-sanctioned BADGER/Midget Auto Racing (MARA) 25-lap feature sponsored by Old Style on Aug. 11 at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway.

Tommy Sexton of Antioch earned a $175 bonus from Herb's Motorcycle Parts of Lake Villa, scoring his fourth straight 12-lap mini-modified main victory.

Hermie Schultz took the initial lead of the mini-mod main. Sexton, who started last in the 17-car field after taking the Challenge, worked up to fourth in the first two laps. Jeff Griffin took the lead on lap two.

A caution on lap three due to Harry McGuire losing a wheel in turn two. Two laps later, Sexton put his Metro Lift/Liberty Auto City No. 0 into the lead shooting to the outside on lap four.

Sexton went on to the victory. Jim Morrison, who started16th, placed second. Griffin was third. Duck Wack started 11th and finished fourth. Roy Morrison improved from 15th to fifth.

"I wish to thank Herb's Motorcycle Parts for putting up the Challenge," said Sexton. "The track was super smooth and I could run the car anywhere. When I left home, my wife, Paula, said I should make it four in a row and that's what I did. I guess we need to just keep on winning like we've been."

On Saturday, Aug. 19, Wilmot Speedway hosts its 14th Annual Wilmot Open Sprints as part of the Miller Genuine Draft sponsored 75th Anniversary Kenosha County Fair Championships. A total purse of over $14,000 is on the line for two divisions. Racetime is 7 p.m.

On Sunday, Aug. 20, will be the annual demolition derby championships with two sessions planned, at 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Wilmot Speedway is on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds in Wilmot, Wis. For information phone the 24-hour racelines (414) 862-2446 or (708) 838-RACE or track office at (414) 862-2458.

Training staffs help players cope with August dog days

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Lake County football coaches have reached a near unanimous conclusion.

It was HOT to begin the first week of practice.

The heat, after a day of lightning forced the first day of workouts inside, again brought into the limelight the role of athletic trainers.

The age of tape and rubbing alcohol as the main weapons against injury are long gone. Bright rooms with paintings of athletes in action and clean, state of the art equipment have replaced the mostly old corners of days gone by.

The computer is now a weapon at Grayslake High and other schools as well.

"The computer will help coaches keep track of injuries," trainer Amy Messoth said.

Messoth is a trainer in the Libertyville-based Condell Medical Center program which serves four area high schools and two colleges. The four high schools are Mundelein, Carmel, Grayslake and Grant. College of Lake County and Trinity College are the two colleges.

Messoth reports no serious injuries the first week of practice, which concluded with the first day of hitting Saturday.

"We gave kids 10 to 12 water breaks a day," Round Lake Coach Kevin Dempsey said.

'We have really tried, over the years, to use the out-by-noon approach. That way players can sustain jobs, and coaches can spend time with their families.'

—Reggie Hughes
Warren coach

Warren High uses the early morning method.

Rams Coach Dan Dillon had high praise for the work of the trainers. Messoth is backed up by at least two student trainers at Grayslake. Schools which have the Condell program serves all have student trainers.

"They are like managers of the team. They bring water bottles out for the players and coaches and offered to weigh the players in between practices," Dillon said.

The Rams use the morning-is-better approach.

"We have really tried, over the years, to use the out-by-noon approach. That way players can sustain jobs, and coaches can spend time with their families. We have found it to be a real advantage over the last 10 to 11 years," Warren High Coach Reggie Hughes said.

Warren trainer Mark Pos believes there is scientific backing to the earlier-is-better thinking.

"Players can lose 15 pounds in a practice in the heat. The important thing is for them to gain it back before the next day," Pos said.

Pos has 11 on staff this fall. "Eight are returning from last year, and that really helps," he said. "They can bring the three new ones in."

Warren has a unique schedule in that it opens the season Aug. 26 with an afternoon game at Lake Forest. The majority of teams open Aug. 25.

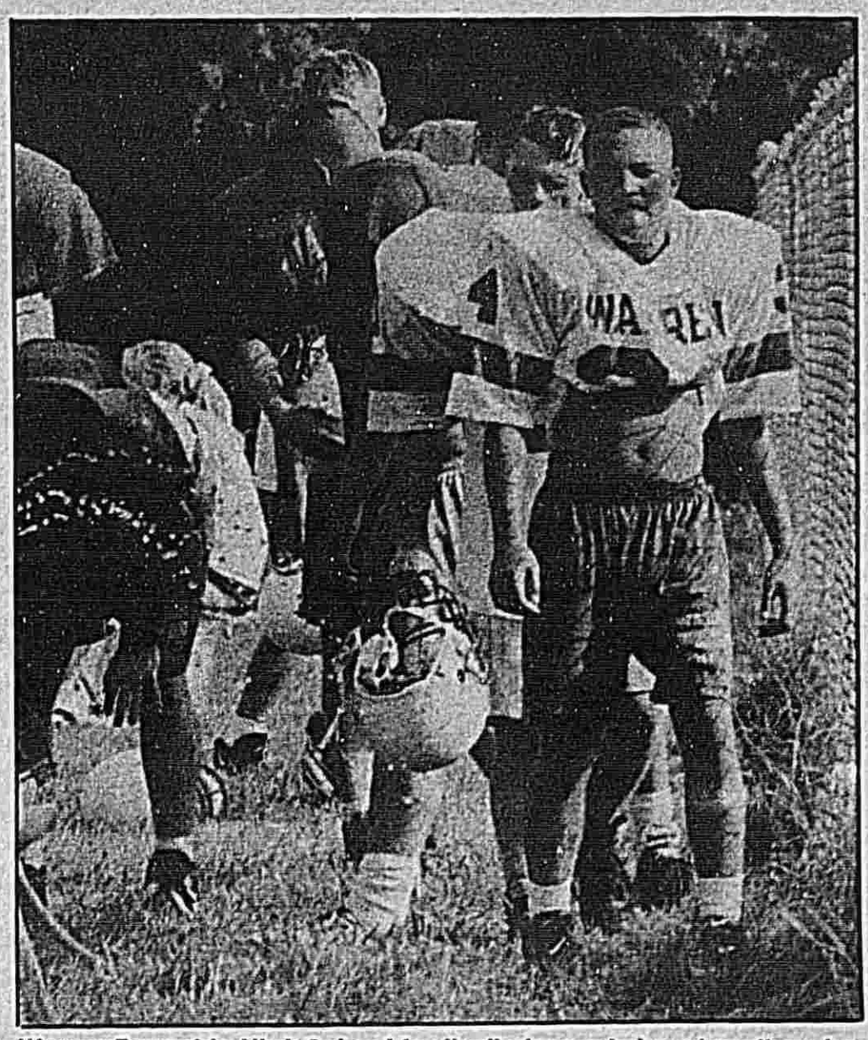

Then it is on to the other North Suburban Conference school without lights—Libertyville—for a Sept. 2 game.

"We may bring in the players for an afternoon practice to get them acclimated to playing in the heat," Hughes commented.

Staff changes: Sam Anderson, an assistant coach for last year's playoff team at Warren, is now head coach at a Manchester, Iowa, high school. "He is an excellent coach and he will be missed," Hughes said.

Also, ex-University of Louisville coach Jim Lobitz is an assistant coach, working with linemen. Joining the staff is Luke Mueller. Mueller served as a non-compensated aide last year. Dar Townsend has left the football staff to concentrate on duties as head baseball coach.

"The new faces bring some good things to the staff," Hughes said.

Runners keep tradition alive in Gurnee 2K

Some traditions remained alive and well as runners braved the humidity and heat in Gurnee.

Tony Pellettiere won the Gurnee Days 2K as he three-peated as champion, with a time of 11 minutes, 30 seconds.

"Staying in shape," he responded when asked why he returns to the Gurnee Days race each year. He is a soccer player track-and-field runner at Warren Township High School. He considered his time to be on the slow side.

"It was a good course, not boring," the sophomore stated.

Laura Ross of Gurnee, running with family members, won the women's 2K race. in 14:16. Her brother Mike and dad David were also running. Laura is an eighth grader at Viking Junior High.

The race featured a first-timer doing well. Megan English, age 7, of Sandwich, finished in the top 20.

"It was hot and humid," Dan Skarda said in describing the Saturday morning conditions.

Skarda won the 10K race in 33:24. Formerly of Libertyville, he now resides in Boulder, Colo.

Waukegan High grad Jeremy Arndt was second. He will attend University of south Alabama this fall after also considering University of Illinois.

"A few years ago, they were in the top 10, but now they have a lot of new guys," he said of his new school.

Another tradition remained strong as coaches fared well.

Eileen Chavez, girls cross country coach at Grant High, won the women's 10K race in 42:40.

"I liked it. It was a diverse race," Chavez said.

She was not the leader the whole way, but made an effort and caught the early leader.

"I had given up, but then I saw her and the competitive juices started to flow," she said.

Grant cheerleaders take top honors at mini-camp

Grant High School cheerleaders earned top honors at the Universal Cheerleading Association camp at the Univeristy of Wisconsin at Milwaukee.

Varsity cheerleaders captured the title as "Camp Champions" among 30 other Illinois and Wisconsin high school competing.

"They're totally into what they do and are enthusiastic about being cheerleaders," said Grant cheerleading coach Kelly McNally. "They motivate themselves and they're all very talented."

McNally said she and her varsity cheerleaders are excited about the new season and performing well at tournaments and competitions as well as at the football and basketball games.

"They want to win the regional and head down state," McNally said. "That's they're main goal, to go down state."

Two senior cheerleaders, Misty Colin and Sara Bending, were also named to the UCA All-Star Squad, which entitles them the opportunity to perform with the UCA squad at nationwide and worldwide events.

"They received the opportunity to perform worldwide," McNally pointed out.

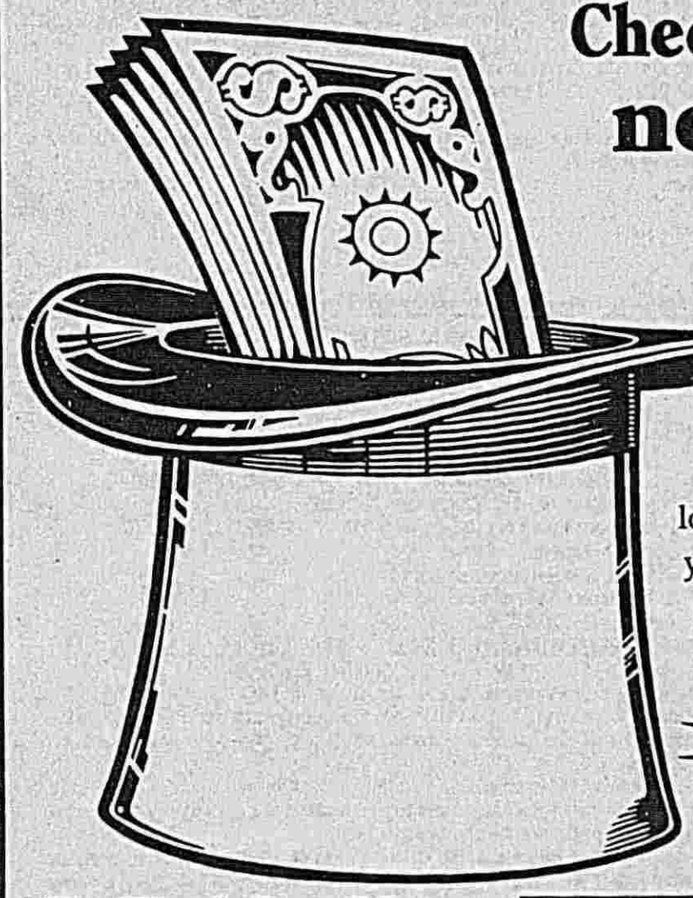

In addition, the freshman and sophomore squads gained "Superior" rankings at the UCA camp. All three squads also received "spirit sticks" in recognition for their spirited demeanors. All cheerleaders received ribbons or awards for individual accomplishments.

Freshmen cheerleaders include Tracy Hill, Suzi Volkmar, Erin Robinson, Denise Shafer, Jennie Ornelas, Katie Robinson, Megan Rinkenberger, Sara Lawrence, and Lisa Michals.

Sophomore cheerleaders include Amanda McNally, Lauren Poliakon, Missi Goodwin, Anita Derodo, Julie Kuchenbecker, Misty Eckstein, Nina Hill, Charail Steine, and, Kristy Gibbs.

Varsity cheerleaders include Colin, Bending, Tiffany Berg, Dori Rogers, Holli Mantas, Tina Sutton, Deanna Hodge, Lisa Conrad, Jamie Louacha, and Abbey Newman.
